

This is a fantastic opportunity for the fossil collector to acquire a piece of a truly rare and just named species: this Triviella korneli Fehse & Grego, 2018, 7.8 mm, Victoria, Australia, is a superb specimen from the Late Eocene (34 million years and older). It is in remarkable condition for such a considerable age, with only minor erosion to the ancient sculpture (please see photos for more information). A rare piece for an advanced fossil collection.
