

Livonia nodiplicata* Cox measures 173 mm. The protoconch is not intact (normal). The lip has been trimmed and there are some borings, one of which penetrates the shell [see last photo]. Although unknown, the specimen was probably not live-taken. Data: Trawled off Mandurah, Western Australia, Australia
Obtained from local fishermen by Mollie Warry 1970

54 $, Jun 2018

