

Hesitata howelli intermediate 99.1mm F++

Trawled 100 nautical miles north of gabo island Bass Strait.

Very nice specimen, an attractive intermediate howelli, a chip in posteria and a tiny chip in anterior canal glossed over by animal but certainly not intrusive as far as beauty goes, apart from that quite a nice shell.

These are extremely hard to get in gem condition any more,i have seen only two or so in the last hundred come in in f+++/gem condition as they get smashed around on the trawlers and in there nets, Intermediate howelli adult specimen
