

Austroharpa lamellifera (Tate, 1889) 33.3 mm, Victoria, is now available. This is an exquisite piece, remarkably intact for its age and its thin, delicate shell, and in near pristine condition. Note in particular the extremely crisp lamellated axial sculpture and the subtle cancellated interstices as shown in the photos. From the Miocene (15 million years). From old collection.

117 $, Jan 2019

